APPLICATION DEADLINES

Department of Community Sustainability
Michigan State University

APPLICANTS REQUIRING A VISA TO ATTEND MSU http://www.csus.msu.edu/graduate/prospective_students

All applicants should apply for fall admission, consistent with the CSUS cohort program structure, because it allows students to:

- attend the formal once-yearly CSUS orientation held a few days before fall semester begins;
- enroll in required foundations courses, offered only during the fall semester; and
- become part of a CSUS graduate student cohort (this group provides mutual support throughout your degree program, based on shared experiences early in your CSUS career).

If you are also applying to a special government or other funding entity, please comply with those deadlines and guidelines also, as they may be different.

I want to start my graduate program FALL 2018

Applications for FALL 2018 admissions are accepted on a rolling basis (as completed) from September 1, 2017 through March 1, 2018.

Rolling admissions means the applicant can submit application materials to the Department of Community Sustainability (CSUS) at any time between September 1, 2017 and March 1, 2018. Rolling admissions enables the CSUS Graduate Admissions Committee to review applications as they are completed, and to make admissions decisions typically within 8 weeks after the applicant submits all of the required application items. The Department does not hold all applications until the deadline.

If Fall 2017 applicants submit all application items by November 15, 2017, they have an improved chance of consideration for:

- university-wide fellowships, if applicant is deemed eligible and competitive <https://grad.msu.edu/msu-graduate-school-fellowships>
- research assistantships offered by individual faculty, or other campus opportunities <https://grad.msu.edu/assistantships>

If fall applicants submit all application items by March 1, 2018, they can be considered for:

- research assistantships as available and offered by individual faculty, or other campus opportunities <https://grad.msu.edu/assistantships>

I want to start my graduate program SPRING/SUMMER 2018 or 2019

CSUS accepts applications only for FALL semester starts. Therefore, plan ahead to meet Fall 2018 deadlines (or Fall 2019 deadlines, not yet posted). See above.

- Scores must be accessible to CSUS by the application deadline. Thus, the applicant must order a GRE report from ETS long before the application deadline (and take the exam long before that, to allow time for ETS scoring and reporting). GRE reports can take 1-3 weeks to arrive at MSU and an additional 2-4 weeks to be processed after they are received by the MSU Office of Admissions. Thus, it could take as long as 7 weeks for your report to become available to the Department. The scores are not accessible by the Department until processed by the Office of Admissions. ITEM 10 - AFFIDAVIT OF SUPPORT

Item 10 should be uploaded in the applicant portal.

If the CSUS Department admits you, the next step is for the MSU Office of Admissions to admit you. This will happen only if sufficient financial support is verified. If you are offered an assistantship stipend of less than US$ 15,330, or are not offered an assistantship, you must provide an affidavit of support for verification by the Office of Admissions. If needed, this is the final item required as part of your application.

All international applicants accepted by the CSUS Department of Community Sustainability must review thoroughly the information on the next page to determine the information required by MSU. Students ultimately are responsible for meeting the financial requirements established by the University if 1) their fellowship or assistantship funding does not meet requirements for any academic year, or 2) no funding is offered through the University.

AFFIDAVIT OF SUPPORT

APPLICANTS REQUIRING A VISA TO ATTEND MSU http://www.csus.msu.edu/graduate/prospective_students

ITEM 10 - AFFIDAVIT OF SUPPORT

Provide completed form and supporting bank, loan, or government funding documentation.

What is the Affidavit of Support?

The Affidavit of Support confirms that the international applicant is financially prepared to meet the costs associated with obtaining a graduate education at MSU. An I-20 form and a letter of acceptance will not be issued by the University until sufficient financial support is verified by the Office of Admissions. The Office of Admissions will ask for the relevant proof of financial support after the CSUS Department sends you an acceptance letter. The Office of Admissions will not send an official acceptance letter until sufficient financial proof is verified.

I am a MS-A or MS-B applicant. Do I need to submit the Affidavit of Support?

1) Yes, if your graduate assistantship stipend is less than US$ 15,330 and you bring no dependents (e.g., spouse/children). The University requires you to show financial support for the difference between US$ 15,330 and your assistantship stipend. The Office of Admissions may require proof of additional funding, especially if you bring dependent(s).

EXAMPLE: If your assistantship stipend equals US$ 11,000 for academic year 2018-2019 (fall & spring), you must provide financial proof that you have US$ 4,330 to cover the difference.

2) Yes, if you are not offered a graduate assistantship. The University requires you to show financial proof in the amount of US$ 42,246 if you bring no dependents. If you bring dependents, you will be required to provide proof of additional financial resources.

I am a PhD applicant. Do I need to submit the Affidavit of Support?

1) Yes, if your graduate assistantship stipend is less than US$ 15,330 and you bring no dependents (e.g., spouse/children). The University requires you to show financial support for the difference between US$ 15,330 and your assistantship stipend. The Office of Admissions may require proof of additional funding, especially if you bring dependent(s).

EXAMPLE: If your assistantship stipend equals US$ 11,000 for academic year 2018-2019 (fall & spring), you must provide financial proof that you have US$ 4,330 to cover the difference.

2) Yes, if you are not offered a graduate assistantship. The University requires you to show financial proof in the amount of US$ 34,010 if you bring no dependents. If you bring dependents, you will be required to provide proof of additional financial resources.

What if I plan to study during the summer semester also?

If you plan to attend summer school, proof is required for an additional US$ 15,614 for tuition, fees, books and miscellaneous expenses.

No Affidavit of Support is required if:

- 1) You are offered a graduate assistantship stipend equal to or greater than US$ 15,330 and you bring no dependents.
- 2) You are a MasterCard Foundation Scholars Program applicant that has submitted proof of funding via the MasterCard Foundation application: <http://mcfcscholars.isp.msu.edu>

For detailed information about proof of financial support, see:

FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

APPLICANTS REQUIRING A VISA TO ATTEND MSU http://www.csus.msu.edu/graduate/prospective_students

I am a fall applicant. When should I submit the required application items - by November 15 or by the March 1 deadline?

Opportunities for funding are greater, though not guaranteed, at the beginning of the fall application cycle. Fall applicants are highly encouraged to submit all of the required items before November 15 for potential fellowship consideration. Applications will be accepted through March 1 and considered for research assistantships, as available through individual faculty, but applications are likely not to be considered for university-wide fellowships if received after November 15.

What fellowship opportunities are available?

Fall applicants may be considered for university-wide fellowships if all application items are received by November 15 (earlier preferred) and applicants are deemed competitive for fellowships. University-wide fellowship descriptions and criteria can be found on the Graduate School website: <https://grad.msu.edu/msu-graduate-school-fellowships> The Department of Community Sustainability does not have full-funding fellowships, but early admitted students may apply for 2 of the endowed scholarships offered by the Department (Axinn, Steinmueller), as relevant (these provide supplemental funding only; they do not provide substantial or full funding support for degree work). 12/1/17 deadline.

What other funding opportunities are available?

Funding opportunities provided by MSU are available on the MSU Graduate School website: <https://grad.msu.edu/funding> The MSU Office of Financial Aid describes additional funding opportunities: <https://finaid.msu.edu> Funding from the Department of Community Sustainability is in the form of hourly work pay or research assistantships for qualified students, as available, through individual faculty.

For more information about assistantships, explore these websites:

MSU Graduate School website: <https://grad.msu.edu/assistantships>

Assistantship FAQ: <https://www.hr.msu.edu/ua/hiring/graduate-assistants/index.html>

Assistantship Stipend Ranges: <https://www.hr.msu.edu/employment/graduate-assistants/stipend-ranges.html>

What is an assistantship?

Research assistantships at MSU include a stipend (bi-weekly paycheck) + tuition & fees for 9 credits per semester (fall and spring) + health insurance + fees. Assistantship amounts vary, based on many factors. Admitted students who are offered an assistantship will receive a separate assistantship offer letter having details about the faculty supervisor, assistantship level, hours per week, and stipend.

Because assistantships in CSUS are offered only by individual faculty members, applicants are encouraged to talk with faculty about potential assistantship opportunities. View faculty biographies and faculty contact information at: <http://www.csus.msu.edu/people/faculty>

Does the CSUS Department offer teaching assistantships?

Generally, no. Only research assistantships are available via individual faculty members. Department-funded teaching and other assistantships are not available except in unusual cases such as made possible by sabbatical faculty salary savings (typically offered to current students).

Are all CSUS graduate students funded by assistantships?

No, not all admitted applicants are offered assistantships, as they are based on funded project and research grants of individual faculty (typically the student's advisor). Students fund their education in many ways: full or part-time jobs on or off campus, hourly project work, assistantships, home government or other agency funding (international students), scholarships, and/or personal savings and loans.

FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

APPLICANTS REQUIRING A VISA TO ATTEND MSU http://www.csus.msu.edu/graduate/prospective_students

How are applications evaluated?

Completed graduate applications are reviewed by the CSUS Graduate Admissions Committee, comprising three CSUS faculty members. Applications that pass this review then are made available for review by the CSUS faculty at large, for identification of potential advisors. An applicant is admitted only if a faculty member commits to advising a specific applicant. The multi-stage review cycle does not begin until all application items are received (including official test scores, official transcripts, and letters of recommendation). All items are reviewed as a package, representing the applicant in toto; no individual item automatically disqualifies an applicant.

How soon is an admission decision made after all required application items are submitted?

Applicants typically receive an admission decision letter from the Department by email no later than 8-10 weeks after all the required application items are received. The Graduate Admissions Committee will not review an application until an application is complete. The review process has several steps and takes time. Please be patient.

An applicant can view an official letter from the MSU Office of Admissions on the applicant portal - granting or denying admission - soon after receiving the admission decision email from the Department (unless waiting for Affidavit of support for an international applicant). The amount of time depends on the university-wide applicant load in the system at the time of decision. An applicant is accepted officially to MSU only by the MSU Office of Admissions.

Does the Department accept spring/summer applications?

No, the CSUS Department does not accept spring/summer applications. Applicants may apply only for fall semester starts. Applying for fall admission gives admitted students the best opportunity to 1) attend the formal once-yearly CSUS orientation, 2) enroll in fall-offered required foundations courses, and 3) become part of a full student cohort.

Can I apply if I have not taken GRE or scores are older than 5 years?

No. GRE scores are required and must be no older than 5 years at the time of application.

What is the minimum GRE score accepted by the Department?

The CSUS Department does not specify a minimum GRE score for any section of the exam, as GRE scores are not a singular admissions criterion. We assess the entire application as a whole. That is not to say that GRE scores are irrelevant. In making admissions decisions, the Graduate Admissions Committee considers 1) the degree program for which an applicant is applying, 2) the age of the GRE scores, which must be no older than 5 years at the time of application, 3) experiences between GRE test-taking and application dates that might have enhanced applicant abilities in low-scoring areas, 4) transcripts, and 5) comments in letters of recommendation. Applicants having a low GRE score (low percentile) should address the low score in the academic statement.

May I send my transcripts/other academic documents by email?

No, because academic documents sent by email are not considered official and will not be reviewed. Contact your former institutions and ask them to send an official transcript in a sealed, official envelope to the Department of Community Sustainability. Anything sent by the applicant - by email or postal mail - is considered unofficial and will not be accepted.

May I send my GRE scores by email?

No, because GRE scores sent by email are not considered official and will not be considered. Contact ETS and ask them to send your official scores to the MSU Office of Admissions. Anything sent by the applicant - by email or postal mail - is considered unofficial and will not be accepted.

May I send any application materials by email?

No, applicants should follow the detailed application instructions (found in this document) and submit items as instructed.

MASTERCARD FOUNDATION SCHOLARS PROGRAM

APPLICANTS REQUIRING A VISA TO ATTEND MSU WHO CURRENTLY ARE LIVING IN AND CITIZENS OF SUB-SAHARAN AFRICA

Please do not contact the Department of Community Sustainability with questions about the MasterCard Foundation Scholars Program

Contact the MasterCard Foundation Scholars Program (MCFSP) with questions pertaining to MCFSP at mcfs@msu.edu. Also see: <http://mcfscholars.isp.msu.edu>

QUICK FACTS ABOUT MCFSP

- MCFSP at MSU is available only to residents and citizens of sub-Saharan African countries (no dual citizenship with U.S.) and are economically disadvantaged.
- Sub-Saharan African citizens living in a country outside sub-Saharan Africa at the time of application are not eligible to apply to MCFSP.
- Applicants must be first-time applicants to MSU.
- Transfer students are not eligible for the program.
- The MCFSP does not accept applications from PhD applicants; the program is only for MS applicants.
- The program has a fall semester start date only.
- MCFSP has a separate application from the application required by MSU/CSUS. MCFSP applicants must apply to both MCFSP and the Department of Community Sustainability to be considered for admission.
- The applicant must be sure to follow the separate requirements of the two entities.

MCFSP APPLICATION INFORMATION

- As a MasterCard applicant, submit the financial documentation required by and available in the MCFSP application.
- As a MasterCard applicant, your application to Michigan State University and the Department of Community Sustainability will be considered only if you submit both applications to CSUS Department NO LATER THAN December 1, 2017 (even though MC says its deadline is February 1, 2018). CSUS needs time to complete its multi-week review process in the Department before we submit recommended MC applications, with supporting letters from CSUS Department, to MCFSP:

MCFSP: <http://mcfscholars.isp.msu.edu/pros/applications/graduate-application/>
(available in September 2017)

CSUS: http://www.csus.msu.edu/graduate/prospective_students/international_applicants

If you do not submit complete applications (both CSUS and MCFSP) to the Department of Community Sustainability by the December 1 deadline, your application likely will not have time to be considered by MCFSP.

APPLICATION FEE WAIVER

Application fee waivers are granted only to MCFSP applicants whose applications are accepted by both the MCFSP and the Department. Applicants not accepted by both MCFSP and CSUS will not be eligible for the application fee to be paid by the CSUS advisor or the Department. The MSU application fee is $75.

If an applicant is accepted by the CSUS Department, but not by MCFSP, the student is responsible for the application fee and for finding other funding (either through a graduate assistantship or other funding source), as are other applicants.
