Dear Fellow Educators,

I am writing to extend an invitation for qualified students to apply for a summer internship position with Mt. Cuba Center in Hockessin, Delaware. We have openings for seven paid interns this summer, and each unique position is detailed in our 2015 summer intern brochure.

If you are not familiar with us, Mt. Cuba Center is a premier botanical garden focusing on native plants and their ecosystems. Besides working side-by-side with our professional horticulturists, arborists and researchers, interns participate in educational programs at least one day each week. Interns also complete a project and make a presentation to the staff at the end of their internship.

We have posted the internship announcement on your school's job site. The application deadline is March 1, 2015 but phone interviews are beginning now and will continue until positions are filled.

Please be in touch with any questions or for additional information.
