

Certificate Programs

Students earn a certificate upon successful completion of 12 credits (normally four courses) from applicable online courses through IFLR.

Requirements for Certificate in International Food Law

- Total of 12 credits (normally four courses).
- Three or more credits (one course or more) must be from the following:
 - FSC 810 International Food Laws and Regulations
 - FSC 812 Food Laws and Regulations in the European Union
 - FSC 816 Codex Alimentarius – The Food Code
- And no more than one U.S.-focused course.

Requirements for Certificate in United States Food Law

- Total of 12 credits (normally four courses).
- Three credits must be from “FSC 811, Food Laws and Regulations in the United States.”
- And no more than one internationally-focused course.

Interested in both certificates?

- Three credits can be applied toward both certificates.
- Students may therefore earn both certificates after 21 credits (seven courses) credits instead of 24 credits (eight courses).

International Focus Courses

FSC 810	International Food Laws and Regulations
FSC 812	Food Laws and Regulations in the European Union
FSC 813	Food Laws and Regulations in Latin America
FSC 814	Food Laws and Regulations in Canada
FSC 815	Food Laws and Regulations in China
FSC 816	Codex Alimentarius – The Food Code
FSC 817	Animal Health, World Trade, and Food Safety (OIE)

United States Focus Courses

FSC 811	Food Laws and Regulations in the United States
FSC 820	Regulatory Leadership in Food Law
FSC 821	Wine, Beer, and Spirits Laws and Regulations
FSC 851	The Law of the Foreign Supplier Verification Program Rule
FSC 852	The Law of the Preventive Controls for Human Food Rule
FSC 853	The Law of the Produce Safety Rule