Hosted at Michigan State University
The U.S. Food and Drug Administration has selected Michigan State University as an authorized school presenting the Better Process Control School.

Learn about Acidified Foods and Low Acid Foods Manufacturing and Processing
The Better Process Control School is offering an opportunity for supervisor instruction and testing to receive FDA certification upon completion of the course.

Dates:
March 8 - 7 – Two-day: Acidified Foods
March 8-11 - Four-day: Acidified Foods & Low Acid Canned Foods

Fees:
$410 per person – two-day Acidified Foods Course only
$695 per person – for two or more people from the same company registered at the same time for the four-day Acidified Foods and Low Acid Canned Foods
$770 per person – four-day Acidified Foods and Low Acid Canned Foods

Registration:
Registration is available for two- or four-day courses at events.anr.msu.edu/BPCSMarch2016/. Registration ends Feb. 12, 2016.