

Who should register:

The course is designed for farm supervisors who manage people that work directly with food or food contact surfaces.

Course Description:

This course is designed to help farm food safety supervisors learn more about the requirements of the FSMA Produce Safety Rule and how to use relevant resources to support their farm's compliance with the rule.

At the end of this course, you will:

- Understand the basic requirements under FSMA that fall within your job responsibilities.
- Identify risks you encounter daily in your job better.
- Have a list of emergency response items tailored to the risks your employees encounter.
