

Flash Talks
Friday, June 3rd
8:00 a.m.

Algal Bloom Action Team Planning and Implementation within North Central Region	Lois Wolfson Michigan State University
Solar energy education and training	Drew Schiavone University of Maryland
Benefits of bats: A project to improve community attitude toward bats	Heather N. Kolich University of Georgia Extension
Color Coding in Outlook: A Simple Approach for Better Planning and Reporting	Mary Reilly Michigan State University Extension
Engaging partners and empowering communities: a private well approach	Jessica Curl Auburn University Water Resources Center
Invasive plant educational activities to improve systems thinking	Krista Stump University of Florida IFAS Extension
Level up! How COVID-19 revolutionized the Rutgers Environmental Stewards program	Amy Rowe Rutgers Cooperative Extension
Growing a webinar series during a pandemic: lessons learned for continued success	Arnold "Beau" Brodbeck Auburn University
The Georgia Green Landscape Stewards Program	Jessica Warren University of Georgia
"Weekly What is it?": A blog borne of the pandemic	Carrie Stevenson UF IFAS Extension
Citizen science: what motivates people to volunteer?	Mary-Claire Glasenhardt University of Wisconsin-Madison
Designing discussions to encourage community action	Holly Abeels University of Florida IFAS Extension
Partnerships and Collaborations to Take Your Job from Good to Better to Best	Amy Stone Ohio State University
Multi-Level Partnerships and Collaborations Support Florida Well Owner Network	Andrea Albertin University of Florida IFAS Extension