

2015 BHEARD Scholar
Nathaniel Decius
Leesolee

Profile

Country of Study:	Kenya
University:	University of Nairobi
Department:	Biotechnology and Bioinformatics
Student Position:	Graduate Research Assistant—M.Sc.
Hometown:	Monrovia, Liberia
Home Institution:	Ministry of Agriculture
Home Position:	Fisheries Consultant
Mentored By:	University: Dr. George Obiero

Research Area: Bioinformatics

BHEARD PROGRAM START DATE: September 2015

UNDERGRADUATE EDUCATION: B.Sc., Biology and Chemistry, Cuttington University, Liberia

RESEARCH INTERESTS: Nathaniel's research interests are sustainability and long term development for the fisheries sectors especially the small scale.

PERSONAL STATEMENT: Nathaniel's goals for the future academic/work are to strengthen the agricultural sector in terms of sustainability for long-term development, create the environment for equal opportunities for both male and female in the agricultural sectors, and empower local small-scale fishers in terms of sustainable fishing.

WHEN I AM NOT WORKING I ENJOY: Nathaniel enjoys reading, creating new environment for improvement, helping others to achieve their goals, and participating in other meaningful activity that can improved his mind.