

What is the 4-H & FFA Livestock Market Auction?

The 4-H & FFA Livestock Auction is the culmination of many 4-H and FFA members' year-long project efforts. This is the time when animals they have cared for are sold to the public. It is the final step in their livestock project where the educational marketing aspects come to life.

4-H members have a unique opportunity to gain valuable life skills through their 4-H livestock projects including such skills as communication, critical thinking, financial management, organization, responsibility, confidence, and leadership through their project involvement and 4-H club.

The 4-H member also has the opportunity to receive a premium price for the animals that they market through the youth livestock auction sales at the County Fair. Many youth use the money gained from their 4-H projects to help pay for college.

Small Animal Sale    Saturday, August 3, 2019    1:00 p.m.

Both sales held at the Ingham County Fairgrounds Main Arena, Mason, Michigan

Registration for both sales begins 1-hour prior at the clerk's table. You will need to provide your name, address, phone number, and driver's license number to receive a buyer's number and sale bill. Each buyer will receive 2 tickets when they register for a meal provided during the auction. All buyers are encouraged to pay at the sale for their purchases by cash or check. All purchases must be paid within 30 days of the auction. Checks are to be made out to Greenstone Farm Credit Services.

Large animals are sold by the pound (if you bid $2.00 per pound x 250 pound pig = $500.00), small animals are sold per individual (if you bid $75 for a rabbit, you owe $75). If you need more information about current market prices to help you formulate a budget for the auctions contact the chairperson of the large or small animal auction. Trucking after the sale is provided by the sale committee for most purchases.

Two or more individuals may cooperatively purchase an animal. Buyers not able to attend the sale may bid on or purchase livestock by contacting the sale committee chairperson. The chairperson will explain the options and process to the buyer.

If you are unable to attend the auction but would like to purchase an animal or support a youth you may submit a proxy form. Proxy forms can be found at <https://www.canr.msu.edu/ingham/4-h/fair-info/auctions>

Buyers have the following options for their purchases made during the auction:

- A. Have the animal processed at a processor of their choice (a list of available processors will be provided at registration for large animals). The buyer is responsible for paying the processing fees. If purchasing a whole animal is too much for an individual buyer, it is encouraged that the individual find other individuals to share the bidder number and split the meat and costs.
- B. Resell the animal (large animals). The current market price will be posted on the day of the auction. You will pay the purchase price minus the market price for the animal on the day of the sale. The sale committee will have your animal transported to the market. For example, if you purchase a 1,200 pound beef at $1.00 per pound at the auction, and the market price for beef is $0.75 per pound, you would owe  $(1.00 - 0.75) \times 1,200 = $300$ .
- C. The buyer can keep the animal by picking it up at the close of the fair. The buyer is responsible for transporting the animal.
- D. Donations may be made to local food bank. Food bank pays the processing fees.
- E. Donate the animal back to the sale committee to be used for scholarships, educational programs, and continuation of the livestock programs.
