Opiliones

Adults: Not true spiders; in the order Opiliones. Distinguished from spiders by having one body region instead of two. Many have long, thin legs, but short-legged species also occur.

Diet/web: Feed on living insects as well as dead animals and plant juices. Nocturnal; found resting on walls and fences by day. They do not produce webs.

Despite the legend, they do not produce toxic venom; they are harmless to humans.

Body length: 5-7 mm
