A Scrapie Tag attached to IDENTIFICATION PAPERS; Goat has a tattoo with FARM NUMBER and GOAT ID NUMBER that matches the Scrapie tag number. Tattoo is done by breeder in lieu of attaching the tag directly to the goat's ear. Tattooing must be done in the proper ears. (or tail web). Tattoos are not accepted as a form of official ID for meat goats. Tagging in the tail web is unacceptable by the USDA and microchips are not an acceptable form of tagging for the Kalamazoo County Fair and Family Festival.

Tattoo numbers will be checked and must match the tag that is attached to your IDENTIFICATION PAPERS.

NOTE – You must keep the Scrapie Tag provided by the breeder, and present it on your ID Papers in order to get into the barn at fair

By completing this form you are agreeing to the Kalamazoo County Fair and Family Festival animal care form. You can review this form

Registered Animals Only: If your goat is registered with an official national association breed registry (American Dairy Goat Association, National Pygmy Goat Association, American Boer Goat Association, etc.), they will have a tattoo. You must have the REGISTRATION PAPERS in your possession – tattoo must match the ID number on the Registration Papers. For specific questions on tagging please refer to the MDARD requirements for fairs and exhibitions at <https://www.michigan.gov/mdard/animals/exhibitions/resources-for-exhibitions> or the Kalamazoo County Youth Fair. Due to the recommendation, from the Michigan State Vet found in the document above, microchips will not be allowed for tagging at the Kalamazoo County Youth Fair.
