

Pest Management Program Overview

Michigan State University is a 501(c) 3 Educational Institution which operates W.K. Kellogg Experimental Forest. The priority is research, outreach, and education in support of the Land Grant Mission.

Archery hunting is a popular and important recreational activity in Michigan. Hunters play a significant role in deer management and data collection associated with fluctuations in population size, health and mitigating damage of active research.

Kellogg Forest offers one of the most unique hunting experiences in southwest Michigan with 157 different species of trees growing in various cover types on 720 acres of actively managed working forests.

The pest management program helps MSU by improving the amount and quality of data collected. It will also enable MSU Staff to keep hunters informed about upcoming research, management, or educational events which have priority over other activities. Most importantly, monitoring who accesses the property allows MSU to provide the safest experience possible for all hunters, visitors, and staff.

Hunters will be provided with materials digitally via email which include harvest sheets, maps, and newsletter. Parking permits will be mailed via USPS.

Photos of your harvest are encouraged and will be included in the annual newsletter!

Kellogg Forest hunters will be required to comply with all Michigan DNR rules and requirements, including obtaining and displaying a license and submitting any samples for collection.

Data collected may be shared with Michigan Department of Natural Resources, other educational institutions and state and federal partners to help promote important wildlife management and research.

Hunters may apply for a Kellogg Forest Permit each season from May 1st through June 15th. Hunters may apply for the annual permit as an individual or a group of up to four (4) hunters.

Permits are issued on a first-come, first-served basis.

Hunters are required to complete harvest sheets. The harvest sheets must be submitted to the Kellogg Forest Manager at the end of the season.

Please refer to the Pest Management Permit Application Process for additional information regarding important dates, permit fees and related terms and conditions.
