

4-H COLLECTIONS GUIDELINES

The following are guidelines for providing learning experiences in collections.

GENERAL GUIDELINES FOR ALL MEMBERS

Gain a better understanding of and appreciation for their collections.

Learn to express their feelings and thoughts on the collection through a written report.

Learn how to select collections.

Learn different ways of displaying collections.

Learn how to preserve collections.

Difficulty or complexity of collection should increase as member's experience increases.

To exhibit the collection at the fair a written report must be included with the collection. The report must include the history of the collection, why it was collected, where it came from, what has been learned in the project and what the collection means to the 4-H'er. A different exhibit must be made each year. A collection may be added to. (Member must indicate starting point of new information each year.)
