

Pimples on fruit

During fruit sizing, berries may be covered with small black bumps that are very obvious during scouting. While the cause of these has not been fully determined, these bumps are not visible once the berries ripen and turn darker.

