4-H Project Record Book

Introduction

This project record book has been created specifically for 4-H members enrolled in a Pocket Pet 4-H project. Keeping a record book is an important part of the project. It will help you set goals for the project year, record your accomplishments, and provide a place to keep important records on your Pocket Pet.

What is a 4-H project?

A project is a subject or topic that you learn about in 4-H. In this case, your project is Pocket Pet. You learn about your project by attending club meetings and educational workshops and working with adult leaders and other 4-H members. You can also learn from field trips and by participating in shows and competitions.

Why complete a record book?

A record book is a way for you to learn about your project, as well as other valuable skills such as setting goals, collecting information, evaluating information, tracking cost and expenses, organization, and others.

The record book can be three-hole punched so that it may be easily kept in a 3-ring binder. Your 4-H Pocket Pet records should be accumulative – meaning that you keep and add to your records from year to year, keeping them all in a 3-ring binder or portfolio. You can organize your notebook however you choose. Some 4-Hers may anticipate having the same project animal for more than one year. In this case you might choose to organize your notebook by project animal and will simply continue to add information and pages to your records for that animal over the years.

This is just an example of one way that you might organize and present your 4-H Pocket Pet project records. But, remember – these are YOUR records and part of the goal for completing them is that you use your imagination and be creative in how you develop them. The idea is that as the completion of your 4-H career, you will have a compilation of records that shows your progression in your project from year to year.

Why Keep Records?

- Members learn more about their project animals - costs, feed, health and management skills.
- Documents activities and progress in the project.
- Improves management and production practices.
- Helps plan future projects.

Keep this record as part of your Personal 4-H Records.

This information is helpful in applying for 4-H awards and scholarships. Remember - records are no better than what YOU put into them!

Extra Credit for my Pocket Pet Project?

An outstanding 4-H project record is one that goes above and beyond what is expected. Be creative!

- A completed record book should have a beginning and final photograph. You are encouraged to be in the photo with your project animal(s) and include more photographs and captions. You may use additional pages.
- Write a report on a related topic of at least one page:
Proper Care and Nutrition; Selection; Animal Science; Safe Management Practices or Diagram of Farm Set-up; Veterinary Science; Food Products (such as sample "healthy" recipes); Judging, etc.
