

Urban / Rural Conversation

ARTIST Linda Beeman

An environmental artist working exclusively in the ancient, water-based Japanese art of mokuhanga – woodblock print. Wood, watercolor, rice paste, paper – these are the ingredients of the artform. Her work offers a sense of stillness, peace and shelter. It embodies the Japanese word ma, translated as “a pause, a space between or a space yet to be fulfilled.” An interval. A consciousness of place. It is in this pause that the soul finds rest and reflection...the journey of viewing awakens you to the vulnerability of our natural spaces. The rarely noticed or hidden becomes elevated to the sacred.

ARTWORK LOCATION:

MSU Extension, Focus Hope
1360 Oakman Blvd.
Detroit, MI 48238

ARTIST RECEPTION:

June 14th at noon

ON DISPLAY MAY 16TH - JULY 6TH

This activity is supported by the MICHIGAN ARTS AND CULTURE COUNCIL and the NATIONAL ENDOWMENT FOR THE ARTS.

