Proper care (feeding, handling, etc.) of project animals and maintenance (cleanliness, neatness, etc.) of assigned fair housing is the responsibility of the 4-H member. Project animals must be cared for in accordance with commonly accepted feeding/ handling practices, and the animal's pen/stall cleaned and re-bedded as necessary on a daily basis.

If animal care and/or housing maintenance do not meet commonly accepted practices (as defined by the superintendent), a written warning will be given to the exhibitor in question. (The written warning will be in the form of a "yellow tag" placed on the pen/stall directing the member to "Report to Your Superintendent Immediately!") If the exhibitor fails to correct the animal care/housing maintenance problem after receiving the first warning, or if he/she corrects the initial violation, but a second violation occurs in the form of a "red tag", his/her animal(s) will be sent home immediately upon report by the superintendent. In addition, the exhibitor will be barred from exhibiting that particular species of animal at the St. Joseph County Grange Fair the following year.

We acknowledge and accept the fact that the 4-H superintendent/assistant superintendent for a given animal species and St. Joseph County MSU Extension personnel have the authority to examine a given project animal in our absence for identification purposes and/or health-related concerns, including obtaining the temperature of the animal in question.
